

Sixth of All

by Ucaoimhu

Since this Post Hunt is the sixth in the series, we now have the routine down pat:

Pre-Hunt. Relax, all Down clues work normally.

12 noon. Twelve Across answers must be entered with one letter on a line between squares; these letters will form five groups, giving five answers like those one gets at the Hunt starting at noon.

14:00. The answers to the other fourteen Across clues are entered normally, but each clue has one extra letter that must be removed before solving; these will spell out what one might do at 14:00.

3 o'clock. For each "12 noon" group, note the letters in the same rows at "3 o'clock" — that is, in the grid's rightmost column. (As you note each letter, put a tickmark beside it.) The resulting five letter-strings, in some order, will form a clue that, together with the "12 noon" groups in the same order, can be solved to indicate a single square in the grid. Read a word obliquely starting at this square, prepend the text that is symmetrically opposite this word (by the usual crossword symmetry), and (if you arrange your tickmarks right) this will spell out what you have just done.
