

ONE TWO TWO

by Ucaoimhu

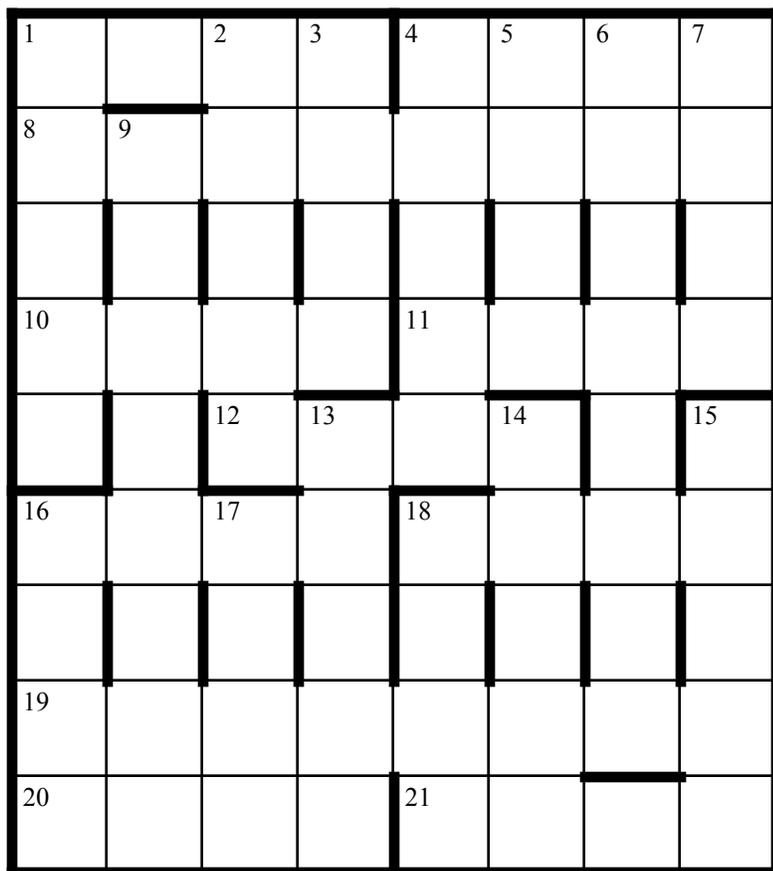

As in a “one two three” puzzle, some squares in this grid may contain two or even three letters. The top quarter of these special squares will relate to the title according to a particular scheme; applying this scheme in reverse to the other special squares, and to the squares symmetrically opposite them (using left-right symmetry), will yield the ultimate answer.

Across

- Next to the empty computer memory unit
- Number with no proper divisors, not counting e as proper
- Shot about to appear in pilot is cut short
- Punches headless amphibians
- Ring outside is audible
- Ultimately keeps insect as a pet
- Decorate again in scarlet and orange
- Initially loved atmosphere in den
- Back to get Penny Flanders patched up again
- Caligula’s to be in dresses
- Urges for caviar, say

Down

- Made like a brook and ran after William Schwenck Gilbert
- Ten stopping over don’t edit schoolbooks
- First Lady’s dark times

- Swedish heroine with many gold pieces and endless fruit
- Knock down beams using your tongue
- What Frankenstein said about bad wine-growing region (2 wds.)
- Gibson eats a bunch of food
- Note Haystack team has to include Luthor, yourself, and myself
- Superbright lights of Christmas, endlessly enthralling Virginia
- Plane’s motion is exhausting to take in, at first
- Janet’s fiancé’s nails
- Seldom encountered red
- Dentist has very compactly recorded movies
- Cooked liver is work of de Sade, peut-être?